Literacy education: The big topics

PETAA has been supporting primary school educators in the teaching and learning of English and literacies across the curriculum for more than 50 years.

In this PYP/ISV and PETAA networking event, Helen Carmody (Head of Professional Learning) and Karen Rogers (Literacy Leader) at PETAA will explore some of the current big topics in literacy education. We'll unpack the most familiar models of reading, view them from the perspective of the broader context of language development, see how they fit with each other, and together work out their strengths and limitations. We'll consider whether we're asking the right questions and explore ways that evidence-based research can be interpreted and implemented in a student-centred classroom. Join in this important collaborative discussion.

Get to know the new PETAA Professional Learning resources that can support leaders in schools to engage in the complex debates surrounding current approaches to reading.

Experience the PETAA curated learning pathways designed to support school leaders to develop quality bespoke in-house professional learning for their staff.

To prepare for this network session consider your school's reading model and engage in the claim, support, question routine.
